Summary: The Working Group meeting began with a welcome from the co-chairs and a review of the agenda for the meeting. Next, Cory Peterson walked the group through reviewing the postcards mailed to AU neighbors and the Eagle Living Guide, which provides students valuable info about residing in the community. He took feedback from working group members for improvement. Cory next gave an overview of the Meltzer Center project, which is preparing to go before the Zoning Commission in July, and detailed how neighbors can draft a letter of support for the project. The meeting closed out with Don Edwards, of Justice and Sustainability Associates, and Cory reviewing the context and outline of an AU Neighborhood Partnership Orientation Program, which will take place later in the summer. Members agreed to begin work on a communication plan to advertise the event.
