

American University 2021 Campus Plan

New Leadership, New Vision, New Plans

- Sylvia M. Burwell became the President of American University in 2017 and brought with her a new energy, vision and plan for the institution.
- She is leading transformative approaches to inclusivity, partnering with communities in DC, changing the culture and improving how AU works.
- Focusing on AU's strengths and opportunities, President Burwell is spearheading a new Five-year Strategic Plan, Fundraising Campaign, and Campus Plan to prepare the university now for a rapidly changing higher education landscape.
- Launching these bold initiatives in tandem puts AU in position to thoughtfully and deliberately plan for the future.

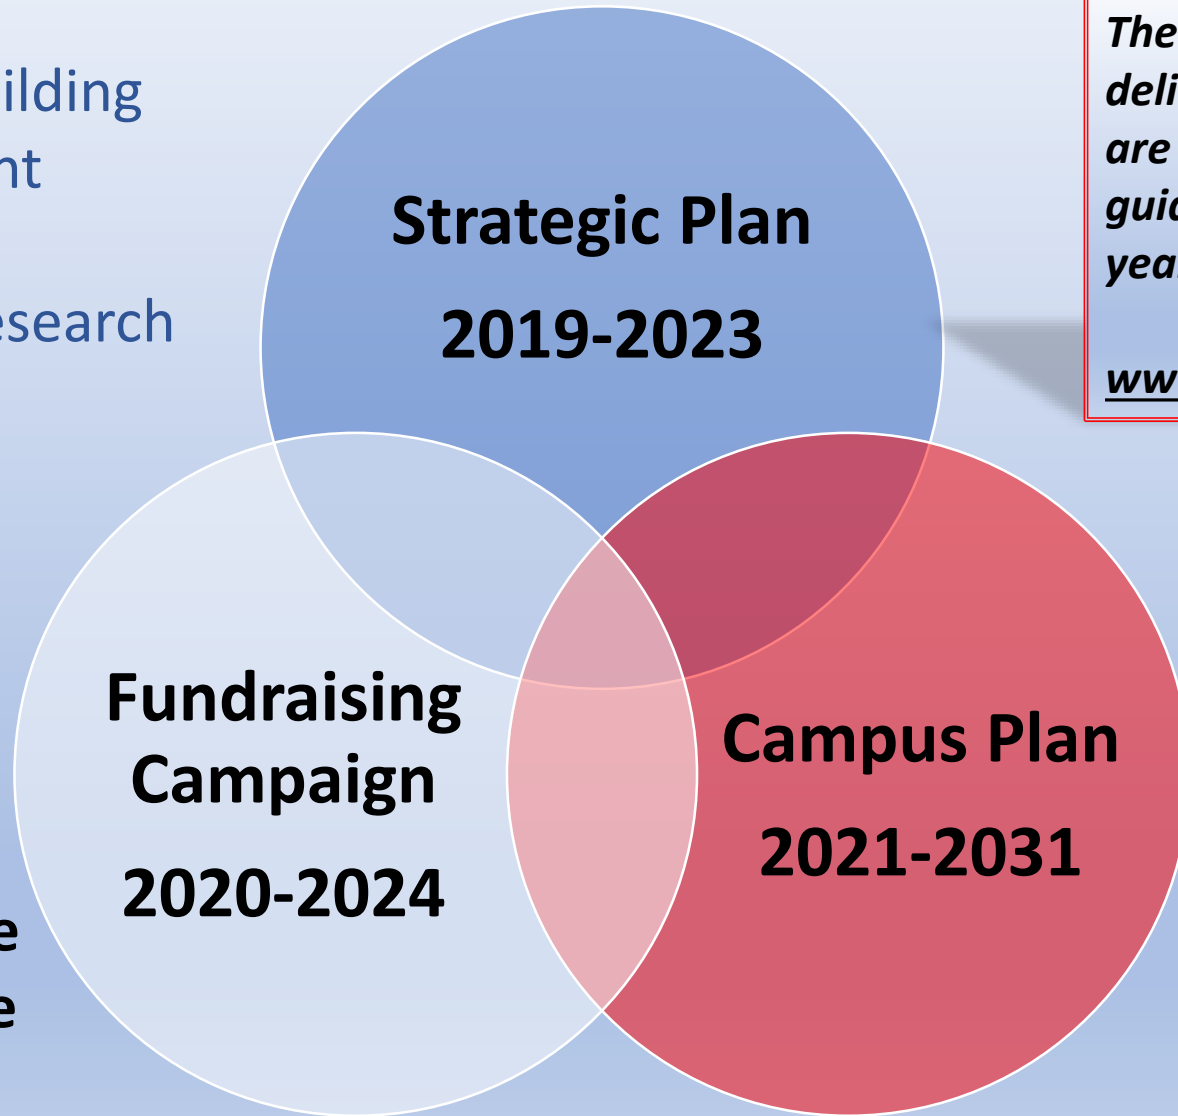

Strategic Alignment

Bold vision building upon significant momentum in scholarship, research and learning.

Through philanthropy, we will address global issues that define our future; enhance the student experience; create a more equitable world and make college more affordable.

The alignment of these plans is deliberate and intentional. They are interdependent and collectively guide the path of the university for years to come.

What is a Campus Plan?

- A campus plan is a regulatory document required by the DC Zoning Commission for universities located in residentially zoned areas.
- Campus plans are roadmaps of potential construction projects and campus enhancements.
- Campus plans address five basic elements:
 - ✓ Enrollment
 - ✓ Facilities/Capital Projects
 - ✓ Student Housing
 - ✓ Student Conduct
 - ✓ Transportation
- Universities detail how they will manage these issues over the course of the plan.
- After a campus plan is approved and a university is ready to build a new project, they must reappear before the Zoning Commission for additional approvals and community input.
