*Women in Arbitration Celebrate ICSID's
50th Anniversary*

October 5, 2015

Mooers-Morella Ceremonial Courtroom (603) - American University Washington College of Law
4801 Massachusetts Ave NW, Washington, D.C.

American University Washington College of Law was founded by women in 1896, a time when opportunities to study law were unavailable to women. These pioneering founders recognized the important role women could offer in the legal field. Over 100 years later, such beliefs have proven true as some of the most prominent female lawyers gather at this conference to discuss advocacy in investment arbitration.
